JURORS CHOSEN TO TRY NEW FOR MURDER OF GIRL

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 18. — Twelve men, all but two past the meridian of life, were sworn late today to try Harry S. New, on the charge that he murdered Freda Lesser, his sweet heart, last July. Neither state nor defense permitted women to pass the peremptory challenges, although several were passed for cause.

Formal proof of the alleged crime was introduced and then with set face and motionless body New listened while Freda Lesser's mother, Mrs. Alice Lesser, told between intervals of hysteria, of her daughter's love for New and his for her.

Mrs. Lesser was taken to the court room from her home in an automobile by county detectives and as she was led toward the court room door she fell in a faint. When she was revived her piercing, hysterical screams penetrated throughout the hall of justice in which the court room is situated and several women in the court room became hysterical, Superior Judge Gavin W. Craig ordered a short recess till quiet had been restored.

Mrs. Lesser testified that her daughter was in her twentieth year at the time of her death and that she had been courted for some months by New. They had been fellow employees in a Los Angeles business house.

Two days before the alleged murder, Mrs. Lesser said, New told her he wished to marry her daughter on the day which proved the last of her life. She urged him to wait, she said, but he insisted that he desired to marry as quickly as possible.

Mother Tells of Last Ride

On the day after this conversation, according to the witness, she, her daughter, a neighbor woman and New went on an automobile ride, returning to the Lesser home in the afternoon. New and Miss Lesser then left again and that was the last Mrs. Lesser saw of her daughter, she said.

"He seemed to love her and I know she loved him," said Mrs. Lesser. "He said he would bring her back to me but he never did."

Under cross examination by Le-compte Davis, who, with Attorneys Jud R. Rush and John L. Richardson, is defending New, Mrs. Lesser said New had always been kind to her daughter and also had been very considerate of the witness.

"I never saw a nicer young man," she said. "I had every confidence in him."

Police Detective Testifies

Mrs. Lesser was preceded on the stand by E. A. Davidson, a police detective. The witness said he was on duty, acting as desk sergeant at central police station here about 3 o'clock on the morning of July 5 when the defendant entered and handed him a revolver. No effort was made to introduce at this point confessions that New is alleged to have made to Davidson and others but the prosecution announced it would try to place these before the jury later.

Davidson said he and another police officer and two newspapermen went outside the station and saw within a closed automobile in which New had been driven to the station the body of a young woman he afterward learned was Freda Lesser.

It is the theory of the prosecution that New killed his sweetheart in Topanog canyon, a few miles from here, in a burst of anger because of

STEPS TO LOWER HIGH COST OF LIVING ON FOOT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—Steps to check the rising price of clothing will be discussed at a conference here early in January of persons interested in the production of wearing apparel, from the producer of raw materials to the consumer of the finished product.

The calling of the conference was announced today by Assistant Attorney General Figg, who said that in addition to affecting economies in operation, it was planned to provide for the production of standard quality cloth and garments for sale at a reasonable price as an inducement to the public to check extravagance in purchasing.

Suggestions for the conference came from producers of wearing apparel and a committee of seventeen. It is being chosen, the personnel of which will be announced after the Christmas holidays. The Amalgamated Clothing Unions will be represented in the conference.

Mr. Figg said it was generally agreed among producers that one essential for reducing the cost of clothing was to have manufacturers devote their plants to necessities, meaning the type of clothing purchasable by the average man. Some clothing manufacturers were said to believe that men's suits now selling for $55 retail could be sold at a profit for $25 if an arrangement could be worked out between mills, manufacturers and retailers whereby a certain percentage of business could be devoted to goods of standard quality to be turned out in quantity.

There is no intention to design a "uniform" for the public, Mr. Figg said, and the standard goods under consideration would be standard in quality rather than in pattern.

The department of justice also is taking other steps to turn the attention of the public to the lower priced goods, neglected in the reaction from war prosperity.

Mr. Figg has suggested to the National Retail Dry Goods association that "economy" departments be established by the association's members which would call the attention of customers to the fact that goods of excellent quality but medium in price still are to be had.

Mr. Figg has disapproved the action of some merchants, however, who were said to have taken advantage of the suggestion and inaugurated "economy sales." The government does not desire to stampede the public into purchasing goods not needed, simply because they are advertised as "bargains," Mr. Figg said.

With the coal strike over, officials expect to give renewed attention to the cost of living. A call was sent out from Attorney General Palmer's office today for a meeting of the committee with whom he had met frequently in the past on the trend of prices. Secretaries Baker, Daniels and Wilson, Director General Hines, Chairman Murdock of the federal trade commission and others are members of the committee.

her refusal to marry him and then drove with the body beside him to the police station to surrender.

HAWAIIAN MUSICIAN SPEAKS OF VOLCANO

Alfred Amana, leader of the troupe of Hawaiian musicians, dancers and singers with Norman Friedenwald's musical comedy, "My Honolulu Girl," which comes to the Orpheum theatre, Sunday night, December 21, tells many folk-lore stories of the volcano Kilauea which is shown in action during the progress of the play.

"That volcano is almost human," he says. "When I was a child I often sat at my mother's knee while old Kilauea was rumbling and belching forth lava and listened in exquisite terror to the tale of 'Pele', the Goddess of Fire. According to the story, 'Pele' lived deep in the bowels of the volcano crater and the rumbling was her voice raised in anger."

"We were told that in the olden days before the Americans came, the natives, hearing the rumble of the volcano, would seek to appease the wrath of the mythical Goddess of Fire by throwing live goats and sheep into the crater. Occasionally they sacrificed a child."—Adv.

Extermination of the Corn Borer is Out of the Question

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—Extermination of the European corn borer "is probably out of the question," Secretary Houston today informed congress in asking an additional appropriation of $500,000 for immediate use in an effort to prevent its further spread.

Investigations by the department of agriculture indicated that the corn borer was brought to this country in a shipment of broom corn from Hungary in 1908, which was widely distributed to factories through the middle west.

FEMINE STYLES

Deep collars of lace are frequently seen. The coat of the mode has a bloused back. Buckles of tortoise shell are used on small hats. The deep kimono sleeve is an interesting fad. Embroidery, though sparsely, is effectively used. The popular bracelet is worn above the elbow. If there be panels at all, they are very slim and long. Sash ends may extend almost to the hem of the skirt. Clever side drapings are used upon evening gowns.

BATTLE SWEEP TERRITORY IS BEING RESTORED

SOISSONS, Wednesday, Dec. 17.—(By The Associated Press)—Gradual transformation of the battle swept regions of northern France back to their normal conditions is being everywhere noted by The Associated Press correspondent, who, with special facilities extended by the government is making a tour through the devastated regions. This rehabilitation is observable in the revival of old industries, the establishment of new ones and the introduction of modern equipment and it is even noticeable in the return of vast flocks and herds of domestic animals, depleted by the war, back to the normal basis required for the domestic needs of this region.

$2000 Stolen When Thieves Break Window

POCATELLO, Idaho, Dec. 19.—About 5 o'clock Thursday morning robbers broke a plate glass window in the jewelry store of George Smith, 344 East Center street, and procured jewelry which was on display to the value of approximately $200.

A man named Williams, residing near by, was awakened by the crash of the glass. He dressed hurriedly and went out to see what had happened, but the robbers had stripped the window of its valuables and made their escape before Williams appeared on the scene.

Mr. Smyth, owner of the concern, stated that the window had just been dressed with a fine line of jewelry for the holiday trade. One man was arrested this afternoon as a suspect in connection with the robbery.

Olney Calls on Wilson to Urge Lifting Dry Ban

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—Representative Richard Olney, of Massachusetts, called at the White House today to urge President Wilson to proclaim demobilization immediately with a view to lifting the war-time prohibition ban.

Former Senator James Hamilton Lewis of Illinois, who was a White House called today, said he intended placing a similar proposition before the president in a written memorandum.

Mr. Lewis said that he thought the question of what is an intoxicant should be left to the individual states to determine.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—Automobile tires worth more than $35,000,000 thrown in a pile many feet deep, and covering more than an acre of ground, were ruined through exposure to the weather at the motor transport corps base at Vernouil, France, Captain Robert Clendening, an officer at the camp, today told a house committee investigating war department expenditures during the war.

No coverings of any kind were placed over the tires for more than ten months, Captain Clendening declared, although there were many canvas tarpaulins scattered around the camp or
